Council concerned about Omnitrans funding delay

By Lynne Locke Upland City Council members have expressed concern over the financing problems of Omnitrans, which operates buses and dial-a-ride service in the West End.

The council learned at the April 4 meeting that Omnitrans is having problems meeting payments for new buses because federal matching funds have been delayed until July. City Manager Lee Travers told council members Omnitrans will need $1.76 million as a loan until the federal funds are received.

The Omnitrans board will consider three funding possibilities and will probably choose the one which is most costly to Upland, according to Travers.

Under the most advantageous plan Upland would loan Omnitrans $56,000 — an amount proportional to the number of miles of Upland city bus routes with the county picking up a proportion for the crosscountry route to Yucaipa.

Under a second proposal Upland would loan $64,000 -- an amount proportional to city lines without considering the cross-county line.

Under the third plan — which favors the majority of the cities involved - Upland would loan $77,000, an amount which is proportional to the milage of the city lines and to the portion of the cross-county line which runs through Upland.

Travers commented it is appropriate for all of the cities involved to carry the expense of the loans since San Bernardino has previously borne the burden alone.

But, he noted, only 40 per cent of the loan would be paid back by July and August with the rest not being repaid "for quite some while.

The council instructed city representative Hal Bailin to try to obtain the most advantageous plan for Upland and indicated concern over the effect of the Omnitrans problem on the city budget, noting that funds used for the loan will not be available for other city projects.

'The federal government is notorious for getting involved in projects and then withholding funds," Mayor pro tem John McCarthy said and added, "If this is an indication we will be left holding the bag, it's frightening.

Councilwoman Ina Petokas agreed with McCarthy and noted loaning funds to cover the federal share would put the city deeper and deeper into providing transporta-

Councilman Hal Bailin said the city has "a tiger by the tail and no one knows when 'Uncle Sugar' will pull the money out" and added the taxi if fares had to carry the full cost of the bus service.

Councilman Bill Bottin asked whether Omnitrans officials had done everything possible to pry the money out of the federal govern-

He also said the city should charge a substantial interest rate on any loan from general fund monies, but Travers noted that Upland would eventually be one of the cities paying the interest rate.

"It's a heck of a situation. Eventually we must provide some money to keep the buses rolling, McCarthy commented.

Hiland Neighborhood Junior Girl Scouts will hold an Indian lore camporee Friday through Sunday at O'Neil Park, Orange County. Some 150 girls and 50 adults from eight Upland-Mt. Baldy troops will participate in the camporee which will include making totem poles and ceremonial masks as well as learning Indian songs and dances. The Indian theme will allow scouts to earn their Indian lore badge.

Camporee activities will include swapping hand-made souvenirs, holding invitational dinners Saturday, and campfire programs Saturday and Sunday. During a special ceremony scouts will receive a camporee patch designed by Stephanie Cowden of Upland Troop 1112.

Troops and their leaders participating in the event include Troop 1001, Mrs. Robert Ingels; Troop 1072, Mrs. Richard Delacy; Troop 1093, Mrs. Jerry Loveless; Troop 1110, Claudia Dean; Troop 1112, Mrs. Dennis Cowden; Troop 1176, Mrs. Claude Jones; Troop 1205, Mrs. David Howard; and Troop 1215, Mrs. James Martens.

Mrs. Julian Blackburn and Cindy Streck are coordinating the camporee for fourth, fifth and sixth grade girls. Mrs. John Miller will serve as first aider and Senior and Cadette Scouts will assist as aides.

- A conditional-use permit for development of a commercial center in a highway commercial zone on 1.7 acres at the southeast corner of Redding Way and the Foothill Boulevard service road.

Magic show

A magic show for children will highlight National Library Week at Upland Public Library. John Allen will perform the show 4 p.m. Wednesday, April 20. Other library week events include a chance for children to make yarn dolls and bookmarks at the crafts table as well as book displays on "the beauty of books," "information for fun," and "information for survival." Preschool story time will be held 10-10:30 a.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

Kindergarten registration

Kindergarten registration will be held for Upland School District schools April 18-22. Children who will be 5 years old by Dec. 2, 1977 are eligible for kindergarten. Parents must present bith certificate, verification of polio, measles and DPT immunization, name and phone number of a local doctor and at least one other person to be contacted in case of emergency. Parents should register children at the school local kindergartners are attending. All children should be registered so planning can be completed for fall classes. For information call the district office, 985-1864.

Family concert

The Upland High School Jazz Band, directed by Greg Sisk, will perform at a free family concert 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the Upland Memorial Park band shell. The concert, featuring show and mellow tunes, jazz and jazz rock, is cosponsored by the Upland Recreation Department, Upland Host Lions, Upland Rotary, Upland Woman's Club, and Upland Junior Women.

Open house

Upland Junior High School and Sycamore Elementary School will hold open house next week. Upland Junior High will hold a dime-a-dip dinner 5:30 p.m. Tuesday followed by open house at 7:30 p.m. Sycamore School will hold open house 6:30-8 p.m. April 21. Other schools will hold open house during Public Schools Week, April 25-29.

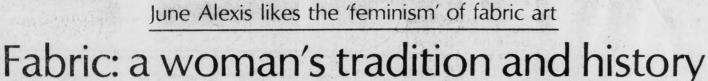

Sycamore School will also sell books for elementary-school-aged children 8-8:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.-12:45 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays, April 15-22 in the school cafeteria. Books will also be sold during the PTA meeting 7:30 p.m. April 21. Prices range from 25 cents to $3.

Headstart-preschool classes

Registration for September Headstart-preschool classes will be taken 8:30 a.m.-noon and 1-3 p.m. through April 22 at Christ Episcopal Church, 1127 N. San Antonio Ave., Ontario. Children born Dec. 3 1972-Dec. 2, 1973 are eligible for the free program. Parents must present proof of child's age and family income.

Rocks and minerals

Rocks and minerals of San Bernardino County will be discussed 3 p.m. Sunday at the Chaffey Communities Cultural Center, 525 W. 18th St., Upland. Members of the Bear Gulch Rock Club will present the free program. The museum will be open at 1 p.m. for local residents to visit.

Fabric "is a woman's tradition, a woman's history," according to Uplander June Alexis who notes she likes "the feminism" of working with fabric, "the pride in the things women have always done.

Although fabric arts don't receive as much respect as "fine art" such as paintings and sculptures, she said that many examples of "pop" art have "helped people look at art in entirely new ways.

Soft sculpture dolls - and animals or other objects - are only one of the many fabric arts available, according to Ms. Alexis who also creates banners, kites, quilts and creative clothing

Each fabric art works into the others, she said and noted applique and quilting can be used on banners, and banners with trailing ribbons are very similar to kites.

Ms. Alexis started her fabric art experiences by creating banners for use in church celebrations and then expanded to making banners for special occasions such as birthdays or weddings.

Her wedding banners often have hearts with flowers growing out of them to symbolize the growth of love, she said. Another banner for a couple of golf enthusiasts will 'play" on medieval heraldry by using crossed golf clubs on a field of

While working on banners, Ms. Alexis began to study patchwork to learn how to piece together bright

She also uses patchwork to create vests and other clothing. The clothing patchwork may have an added twist since she uses doilies and other old - fashioned crocheted or embroidered pieces.

In using old doilies or ethnic materials such as the "mirror" cloth from India, Ms. Alexis creates her clothing without using printed

Fitting the materials together without a pattern is like a puzzle, she said and noted she isn't limited to the pattern shapes and standard material sizes which would prevent her from using many of the thrift store doilies and embroidered

Quilting can include the traditional applique or patchwork and pieces designs or it can include more modern tie-dye or batik materials, Ms. Alexis noted.

A future project is to make a family history quilt using a photographic technique to imprint old family photographs on the quilted material.

Ms. Alexis' secret of creative fabric art apparently is to use the materials available in different ways rather than being limited to the ways commercial businesses of other people are doing things.

Weightlifting records set

Marvin Phillips, Alta Loma's weightlifting police officer, is looking for more worlds to conquer after setting his 10th and 11th world records in recent competition.

Phillips, who specializes in the squat lift, first hefted 790 pounds in the Greater South Open Power Lifting Meet for one mark, then hoisted 810 pounds to break his own record.

Phillips, a 5-foot-8 1/2, 237-pounder, thus became the first heavyweight (242pound class) to lift 800 or more pounds

Previously, the 32-yearold resource officer at Ganesha High School in Pomona had lifted 777 1/2 pounds in the World Championships at York, Pa.

John Cole of Phoenix broke Phillips' mark with a lift of 780, only to have Phillips come back and eclipse the new standard by 30 pounds.

Phillips says he is satisfied "for the moment" with his new feats, but is hoping to become the first man to set world powerlifting marks in four weight classes. He already has world standards in the 198, 220 and 242 divisions.

Water district to divert sewage to 'brine line'

by Richard Peraza

Chino Basin Municipal Water District (CBMWD) has received authority from the Los Angeles County Sanitation District (LACSD) to civert residential sewage and industrial waste from the eastern portion of Cucamonga into the sanitation district's non-reclaimable waste line.

The waste line, nicknamed the "brine line" by local water officials, has been considered one of the easiest and most enticing methods of dealing with the West End's overburdened sewage treatment plants until expansions can be completed.

But the ease of using the brine line, in which there is more than enough capacity to handle current sewage overflows temporarily, does not make it the best solution to sewage problems, according to CBMWD representatives.

The disadvantages have made CBMWD officials reluctant to discuss the waste line as a major — even if temporary — solution.

Developers and representatives of some cities have pressed CBMWD for details concerning the line's capacity and prospects for utilizing it for domestic sewage.

"I think we've been very reluctant to talk about it — because it would tend to jeopardize use of the line," Ray Ferguson, CBMWD general manager, said. "It's (use of the brine line) a temporary solution only... and a waste of good reclaimable effluent."

Ferguson said CBMWD was the first municipal water district to secure use of a non - reclaimable waste line.

Dan Glasgow, project engineer for the industrial waste division of LACSD, described some of the conditions of the 50-year contract signed in 1966.

He said CBMWD agreed to pay an annual treatment charge which fluctuates with the cost of treatment. The current price is between $190 to $200 per million gallons — nearly twice the cost of treating domestic sewage in local plants.

According to Glasgow, CBMWD paid $6.3 million for a 16.1 million gallon per day (mgd) total capacity right. The local district now uses about 4 mgd of that capacity, leaving 12 mgd in reserve, he said.

Regardless of the capacity right, he continued, a working condition of the contract stipulates that any additional flows sent down the line must first be applied for and "must be approved by the chief engineer and general manager of the Los Angeles County Sanitation District."

Montclair's sewage is already sent down the line and Glasgow said the LACSD board of directors has received and approved an application from CBMWD for "an inter - tie for domestic sewage from the (eastern) Cucamonga area."

Ferguson acknowledged he received word of the approval in the mail around April 8. A new connection into the brine line in the Cucamonga area will soon be constructed and he said it will come on line with an estimated flow of about 1 mgd in about six weeks. He noted that the application was worded to permit the local district to increase the flow from the area if necessary.

Ferguson said the district hopes to secure permission from the Santa Ana Regional Water Quality Control Board to re - open the now unused Cucamonga settling ponds (the cheapest form of sewage disposal) and divert the remaining tri - community flows from Regional Plant 1 (RP-1) in Ontario to them. To do that, CBMWD must first prove to the water quality control board that use of the ponds will not endanger the quality of the underground water hasin

The ponds can process between 1 and 1.5 mgd and Ferguson said he feels the water quality control board will approve the move on a temporary basis because the heavier industrial wastes in Cucamonga will be dumped into the brine line with residential sewage.

That's a total of 2 to 2.5 mgd RP-1 won't have to process. In addition, Ferguson said, only some of Montclair's sewage will run down the Montclair Interceptor, connecting the city with RP-1, when it is completed this fall. Most of Montclair's sewage will stay on the brine line until the Ontario plant can be expanded.

The easiest solution then, and one pointed out by some developers, is to make greater use of the brine line to handle excess domestic sewage, thereby reducing the limitations a growth management plan may bring.

Ferguson said, however, even with its remaining 12 mgd capacity the brine line should be used "no more than absolutely necessary."

Not only is the cost per million gallons nearly twice that of local treatment but the basin loses valuable reclaimed effluent by piping waste water outside the district, he said.

"The line is a non - reclaimable waste line and residential sewage is reclaimable so we don't want to put any more down it than we have to," Ferguson said. "It's a crime against nature.... You just can't afford to waste resources."

Glasgow and James Anderson, executive officer for the regional water quality control board, said they do not anticipate any objections from their respective directors if CBMWD used even its entire 12 mgd brine line reserve for domestic sewage — provided there are enough assurances that the use is temporary.

"It's (approval of domestic wastes in the brine line) an interim measure so CBMWD can avoid the cease and desist orders. It is our understanding the discharge of residential sewage is on a temporary basis, until the Ontario - Upland plant expansion can be constructed," Glasgow said.

Anderson said use of the line would "probably let Chino achieve its discharge requirements" and that the water quality control board would not be concerned with heavy use as a temporary solution.

"Our only concern would be if it got to be a permanent solution - the impact on the Chino Basin due to the (future) nonavailability of that non reclaimable facility."

Ferguson said he fears extensive use of the brine line may prompt developers and federal environmental officials to think the line's use is permanent. Permanent use would bring objections from LACSD, the state water quality control board and federal officials and could conceivably cost the district vital grants for sewage plant expansion and other projects, he said.

"In all sincerity, we could get shut down if it gets around too much," CBMWD President Carl B. Masingale added.

Masingale said federal officials are now reviewing CBMWD's application for a grant to fund roughly 75 per cent of an RP-1 expansion from 16 mgd to 24 mgd.

If those officials feel the West End is doing nothing to manage mushrooming growth, they may deny and block the application even if it is approved by the state, he said.

Masingale said he doesn't feel that area developers and city representatives will demand extensive use of the brine line in lieu of building limitations. "They recognize they're going to need some kind of a managed growth plan to keep going."

Ferguson added, "90 per cent of them are coming along real good the rest are learning."

"Our program is to maximize the use of RP-1, to pursue the grant (for RP-1 expansion) enthusiastically, to pressure a point source program (if all industries install their own water recycling systems up to 1 mgd could be shaved off RP-1's flow) and make every effort to reactivate the Cucamonga ponds. Lastly, we must achieve a growth plan," Ferguson said.

RIGHTS forms in West End

Group opposes moratorium

A group has formed to forestall a West End building moratorium that could take effect April 22 if the state Santa Ana Regional Water Quality Control Board prohibits new sewer hookups in order to solve the area's sewage overcapacity problem.

Calling themselves RIGHTS, Responsible Individuals for Growth and Homeownership in a Thriving Society, the group is composed mainly of developers who claim a moratorium could produce disastrous side effects on the West End economy.

At a luncheon meeting Thursday, acting chairman Dallas Richins told prospective members all efforts of RIGHTS "are nonpolitical."

"We are interested in other ways to solve the (sewage) problem without a moratorium or growth control "he said control," he said.

A businessman from Riverside County, Dwight Mize, who formed a similar group there, told the audience of about 30 people that Riverside was faced with the same problem two years ago the West

"We got together and met the problem head - on," he related.

"We (RIGHTS) try to be an effective voice against those pushing for no growth," Mize said. "We are a reactionary group. That is, we are reacting to an already stated position for no growth."

Mize cited several reasons for the formation of RIGHTS, which were spelled out in a circular titled Declaration of West End Rights.

Some of those rights stated are:

— " ... all persons are endowed with many rights under the Constitution of the United States. Among these rights is the right of all citizens 'to inherit, purchase, lease, sell, hold and convey real and personal property.' "

— "...there are persons who would promote an elitist concept to construct a mythical moat around the West End of San Bernardino County not for the benefit of mankind and the public interest, but to exclude all but its fortunate current residents. We believe that is unacceptable."

— "...to artificially inhibit natural growth for any reason other than a real lack of services and facilities makes as much sense as outlawing grocery stores or hospitals."

— "...the development of housing is in the public interest. Both the state and federal governments are firmly committed to housing. Housing provides more jobs both directly and indirectly than any other industry. Home ownership provides more permanent wealth to more people than any other item they might purchase in their lifetime."

Local groups offered use of two-way radios

A new communications program, which could save invaluable time for groups of persons stranded in isolated areas and in need of help, has been initiated by the Pomona Valley MERIT team.

The MERIT team (MERIT stands for Mountain Emergency Radio Independent Team) is making two way radio communication available to any group which requests use of a unit, explained Kell Gregg, coordinator of MERIT.

Last Friday, the first official installation of the radio equipment was made in a bus operated by the Pomona Valley Workshop, a school for severely handicapped persons.

If the bus were to break down on a country road or on a busy highway, the "driver could not leave his charges unattended so there would be no way for him to get help," Gregg explained.

With the two - way radio in the bus, all the driver need do is relay his plight, Gregg added.

Gregg and other MERIT members hope the service can be provided to scout groups, senior citizens, school groups, youth groups and camping groups as well as the handicapped.

The MERIT team is a volunteer organization of approximately 12 men and women who perform a variety of community services with their communication equipment.

Gregg noted that all members of the team are trained in broadcast, first aide and other emergency techniques.

In addition to the most recent service being offered by the group, members also monitor the emergency channel of the local citizen's band radios.

One of the most active services of the group involves the search and rescue team.

When this group joined MERIT, it was already organized and functioning, Gregg said.

He said only last week, during the rescue of an injured hangglider pilot on Cucarnonga Peak, one of the MERIT team medical technicians was called into service by the sheriff's department.

Any group or organization wishing to participate in the new emergency communications program or desiring to have this group make a presentation should call Gregg at 982-0034 or write to Pomona Valley MERIT, P. O. Box 292, Upland, 91786.

SCAG move supports extension of freeway

The proposed Foothill Freeway extension through Upland and Alta Loma has been included in the regional transportation plan by the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG).

The executive committee of SCAG, the planning agency for six Southern California counties, amended the plan last week to include the route from La Verne through Claremont, Upland, Alta Loma, Etiwanda and on to San Bernardino.

Freeway proponents had feared that if the route wasn't specifically included in the regional transportation plan, it could have indicated an apparent lack of local support for it — thus giving California Department of Transportation officials a reason for dropping the freeway altogether.

Caltrans officials are considering whether the route should be retained in the state's master plan of highways. A report from Caltrans district officials in San Bernardino to Caltrans headquarters in Sacramento is expected to be sent soon.

The SCAG executive committee acted after the San Bernardino

Associated Governments, the county's transportation planning board, reaffirmed its support for the freeway.

San Bernardino County Supervisor Dennis L. Hansberger is this year's SCAG president. Upland Councilman Hal Bailin, who represents San Bernardino County cities on SCAG's executive committee, brought up the matter last week, with Hansberger's support

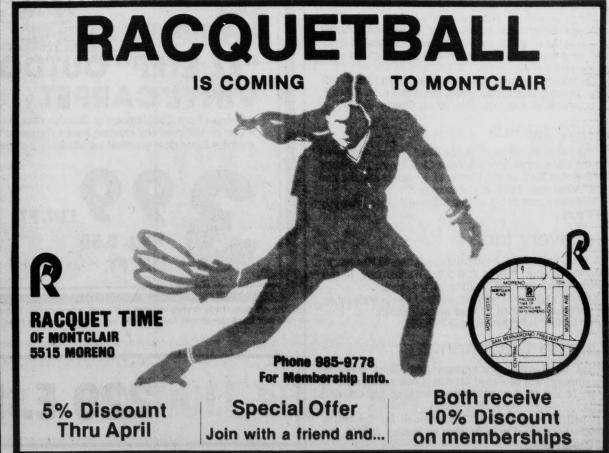

Bailin is president of the Foothill Freeway Association, the chief lobbying organization for the freeway.

Signal system ready to go

Community Relations Coordinator City of Upland

QUESTION: Can you bring me up to date on what is taking place with the traffic signal lights all along Mountain Avenue

ANSWER: City engineer Fred Blanchard said the Mountain Avenue traffic control system, which will function for all of the signals along Mountain Avenue from 16th Street through the two freeway ramp signals, finally appears to be ready for its operational test. The project specifications require that the entire system pass a test in which the system and all of its components operate trouble free for a five-day period. The contractor is making final adjustments in wiring in the optimum speed signs and at the controllers before the intersections. It was anticipated that they would complete these adjustments by April 7. When this work is completed the five-day test period will begin.

William G. Hutson, was defeated last month in his bid for reelection as trustee.

Carol Ogg, who represents girls' athletics, is the newest member of the nine - person committee. She was appointed in January to fill the term of Sara Keeney, who resigned because of other commitments.

Art exhibit

More than 50 art objects, all with a rabbit motif, assembled by Howard Johnson of Upland, will be on display at the North Gallery of the Edward - Dean Museum in Cherry Valley through April 24.

The museum visitor will have the opportunity to see rabbits fashioned of wood, crystal, jade, alabaster, procelain, agate and wool.

There is also a 19th century Alaskan scrimshaw cribbage board with rabbit motif, a wooden tobacco pouch in the shape of a rabbit, netsukes carved of ivory and wood and a Japanese woodblock print depicting the white rabbit of the moon

The museum is open, without charge, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday. It is located at 9401 Oak Glen Road, Cherry Valley.

Rancho Cucamonga

Casa de Rancho Cucamonga (old Rains home in Cucamonga) will be closed Saturdays and Sundays, April 9, 10, 16 and 17, for restoration work on the exterior

It will re - open April 23. Plans call for the entire restoration project to be finished by Sunday, May 22, for the annual fiesta.

After the system has passed this test and any final minor clean up on the project is attended to, the city will have accepted the project. Even though the city accepts the project, there are electrical guarantees that require the equipment suppliers to be responsible for any malfunctions for six months. It should be noted, however, that when the system becomes fully operational, we can not expect an overnight improvement of 100 per cent in traffic flow. It will take a period of a month or two for the users to adjust to the new system; at the same time, for the city to develop parameters for the control of traffic flow that best fits the many varied traffic conditions that exist from day to maximum of 34 miles per hour. Speed downhill will normally be a little greater than speed uphill for obivious reasons. It has been a long time coming, but it is our opinion in the long run it will yield economical benefits to the users as well as increased saving in air pollution reduction at various levels and a general deceasing of the wear and tear on the motorist.

QUESTION: From time to time I have heard people mention "Administrative Committee." What is their purpose? A.M.S.

ANSWER: The Administrative Committee consists of four city employes - the city manager, the city engineer, the chief building official, and the planning director of their designees. Any two such members may act as a quorum for the purpose of conducting business. The committee was enacted to expedite and relieve the Architectural Commission, Planning Commission and the City Council of certain administrative problems within the limits established by the council.

QUESTION: Can you tell our civic class the duties of a recreation center supervisor? M.S.

ANSWER: David Holt is the recreation center supervisor. Dave has done a very capable job in developing and supervising programs offered at the recreation center.

Under administrative direction Dave plans, organizes and schedules the program to be conducted and gives instructions to recreation staff; settles disputes between groups or individuals regarding use of center's facilities; reviews the conduct of recreation programs including performance of recreation staff, degree of participation in recreation activities, and promotes participation in recreation activities conducted by the center and by the department in general.

He also supervises the cleaning and maintenance of the center; participates in the analysis of recreation programs as related to community interests and prepares recommendations on programs which might be offered; develops recommendations for personnel and budgetary needs as relates to operation of the center; resolves problems which may arise during the conduct of recreation programs for scheduling of activities; assists conducting recreational programs on a citywide basis and answers inquiries concerning center activities from service clubs and the general public.

Doctor notes family unit is undergoing changes

Dr. Everett Hilliard, Mrs. McCarter said there The WEFCS has been president of the West End is a heightened concern serving the area since 1956. Family Counseling Service, about our system of justice, (WEFCS) told members and guests, who gathered for the organization's and recommendations of annual meeting recently at two national commissions San Antonio Community and court decisions. Hospital, that the family is a unique organization undergoing stressful changes today He said half the nation's school - age children live in families where both parents work and that in the West family through the End some of the neighborhoods include homes where over 50 per cent are single family dwellings. He also cited increasing child abuse as one of several growing problems confronting today's families.

"This agency, (WEFCS), has served families for 20 years and we can help these families find better solutions to their problems," he said.

Mrs. J.B. McCarter, advisor to the women's auxiliary to the group, introduced a play about justice given by the cast from, "Plays of Learning of Southern California.

stimulated by news stories, documentaries and reports

She said much of the way we operate our criminal justice system is counter productive, harmful, ineffective and financially wasteful.

The play followed a problems, anxieties, confusion and sorrow for a wife and mother of an accused man.

Mrs. McCarter described the play as a family who became involved in the unfamiliar world of jailers, public defenders and judges, whose collective effort in the name of justice appears to be a conspiracy to destroy the spirit of a family already beset with a number of social and financial problems. The play focused on the pre - trial stages of the criminal justice process and dramatized problems of arrest, jail, public defense, plea bargaining, bail and trial delay.

It is a non - profit, non public agency that provides mental health services to over 200,000 individuals in the area.

It is supported by fees the United Way and membersships from concerned community members.

It works with the San Bernardino County Mental Health Department.

Statistics show the organization assisted 4,540 persons during 1976, with related problems such as, suicide, martial problems, personal, child oriented problems, probation and drugs.

Mt. Baldy Aquatics AAU Coach Mike Sutton has been busy the past several weeks squiring his AAA and Senior swimmers to some of Southern California's most prestigious meets.

Twelve-year-old John Moffet led the locals as he swam the 100-yard individual medley in 1:01.29 for first place at the Mission Viejo AA (younger) meet.

Young Moffet went on to the AAA meet at Belmont Plaza three weeks later and swam to a pending national record 1:05.52 in the 100 breaststroke and pending Souther Pacific Association (SPA) record 30.1 at the 50yard distance.

Moffet completed his AAA program with a fast 1:00.84 in the 100 IM, 24.71 in the 50 free and 54.1 in the 100 free, all personal best times and good for silver medals in the 11-12 age

Swimming in tough Senior competition at Culver City, the Claremont speedster surprised with a fourth place clocking of 2:24.2 in the 200 breast, another personal best.

Uplander Leila Fernandez (16) placed with thirds at the AA (older) meet at Fullerton and the AAA at Belmont. Miss Fernandes earned the bronze in the 100 breast with 1:12.6 and 1:12.2 respectively.

The 10 and under duo from Upland, Jennifer (10) and Steve (9) Weck, showed well for the Baldy contingent in AAA competition.

Jennifer placed third in the 50 backstroke with 34.16, seventh at the 100 yard distance with 1:17.61 and 15th in the 100 IM (1:16.55) after having clocked a 1:15.88 in the prelims, all personal bests.

Steve finished 12th in the 50 back (35.56), 13th in the 100 back (1:18.55), 15th in the 100 breast (1:25.90) and clocked a 40.26 in the 50 breast, also all personal best times.

Derek Jones (12) of Claremont, after swimming AAA best times of 29.13 in the 50 free and 1:12.11 in the 100 butterfly, teamed with Barry Kimbrough (12), Greg Leonard (12) and Moffet where they achieved more bests in the free and medley relays.

Business conference

Three successive Monday nights will be given over to a Business Affairs Conference sponsored by the Pomona Valley Council of Churches. These sessions, to be held at St. George's Roman Catholic Church, 322 W. E St., Ontario will begin 2:30 p.m. Monday.

The areas to be covered and the leadership for these sessions include

- Monday - "Wills and Bequests," led by Charles Allen, director of development at the School of Theology, Claremont, and Barry Mason, attorney at law; April 25 - "Money Management" techniques of bookkeeping and accountability for the church led by George Gibbs, CPA and author, and Walter Reardon, CPA

- May 2 - "Fund Raising" organizational techniques in the areas of major events and capital drives and stewardship campaigns led by William Pulver, sales manager for IBM and the Rev. Joseph King, fund raiser. Sessions will conclude by 9:30 p.m. Presentations will be made by the leaders. A question and answer period will also be included. Cochairmen of the event are Edward Girard and Arthur Munson, members of the Business Affairs Department of the council. Chairman of this department is Harland Goodrich.

The conference is open to all churches. For more information call the council office (714) 622-3806.

While there is no registration fee, advance reservations would be appreciated and may be made by writing Pomona Valley Council of Churches, 1753 N. Park Ave., Pomona, CA 91786, or calling the council

The Miracle Goes On'

"The Miracle Goes On," a new film of the life story of John W. Peterson will be shown 6 p.m. Sunday at Bethany Baptist Church of Montclair.

Peterson is one of the most popular of the present day composers of Christian music. Among his best known compositions are the songs "It Took a Miracle" and "Heaven Came Down."

Missionary conference

Sunday will mark the beginning of the Annual Missionary Conference at Grace Baptist Church, 1515 S. Glendora Ave., Glendora. There will be 32 missionaries and representatives of mission agencies and theological seminaries at this conference, which will continue through April 24. The community is invited to attend.

On the same day, Baha'is in more than 900 communities in the United States and in more than 14,-000 communities around the world will come together for the same purpose.

There is no clergy or priesthood in the Baha'i Faith. The affairs of Baha'i communities, local or national, are guided by their spiritual assemblies.

April 21 is the start of a 12-day festival period known to Baha'is as Ridvan, the time during which the Baha'i Faith was first proclaimed publicly in 1863.

The Baha'is of Ontario Baha'u'llah, the Prophet-will meet April 21 to elect a Founder of the Baha'i Faith, taught that all peoples in the world are equal and should come together in a worldwide system to ensure peace and well-being.

There are Baha'is in more than 300 countries and territories of the world. In the United States there are Baha'is in more than 5,000

In addition to local assemblies, which are formed in every locality where the adult Baha'i membership is nine or more, national spiritual assemblies are elected in countries where there are enough Baha'is.

There are 117 national spiritual assemblies in the world, including one in the United States.

A Woman Ought to Know

Why the bad TV image?

I get the impression from The television that women today are chiefly worried about spot-free crystal, waxy build-up and "ring-around-the collar." A friend suggests women respond with a crash program to get people to wash their necks.

Seriously, why are women portrayed with such petty concerns? Why are we rarely seen in the significant roles we play as mothers, working women and professionals?

P.M., Mission Valley Dear P.M.,

The distorted image of women portrayed on television has aroused women across the nation. Women have been monitoring television, studying its content, and holding local and national conferences to share their

What have we learned? Pennsylvania Commission for Women reports that not only are women portrayed as passive, doll-like creatures without character - they are actually seen far less than men. Apparently, many in television management regard women as nonexistent.

For instance, three-fourths of all leading characters on prime-time network television are mostly single, middle and upper class white males in their 20s or 30s.

Workshops explain To ask a woman to walk aspects of drug use

Pomona Open Door is offering a series of mini workshops on adult awareness and drugs. These workshops are available to families and parent groups civic organizations, clubs, religious groups, and other organizations. Topics to be discussed in the mini-workshops include "Drugs: Problem or Fad?" "How to Recognize the Most Commonly Used Drugs," "The Effects of Drugs on Youth," "The Availability and Cost of Drug Use" and How to Deal With Drug Use in Your Family. The discussion leaders will be experienced counselors trained in drug education.

Rama Khalsa, executive director of Pomona Open Door and a licensed marriage, family and child counselor, stated, "Parents and teachers have a responsibility to youth to be iinformed and prepared to deal with the drug problems facing all of us in today's society. These mini-workshops are one step toward fulfilling this responsibility.

Further information about the programs may be obtained by calling 629-6018.

the best will do for dinner. Maybe it's unexpected guests - good friends you haven't seen for a while or a husband's promotion. Whatever the occasion, you can be prepared for it if you have the ingredients for making Special Avocado Crab-Boats on hand.

There are only three ingredients in this simple recipe - just a couple of 6oz. packages of crab meat from the freezer, a handful of California avocados from the fruit bowl, and a 'special" can of tomato sauce from the cupboard.

Special Avocado Crab-Boats are a lesson on making an expensive entree, like frozen or fresh crab meat, go further without burying it in pasta, rice or other often-used

Cook beef in oven, cooker

Less tender cuts of beef are perfect for slow cooking. Beef short ribs which have meat clinging to the bones do exceptionally well by this method based on a low cooking temperature and a small amount of liquid. The flavor develops in cooking and the beef practically falls off the bones. The savory sauce is based on a can of tomato sauce with sweet and sour accents added. Preparation time for the beef is speedy. Once you get the knack of cooking this way you'll find yourself doing it often in the oven or in one of the small portable electric cookers

BAKER AND LEO — Thomas Baker, son of Sir William Baker of Circus Vargas, trains Appalachians and Andalusians to perform before audiences of thousands. About Leo he noted: "Leo here is the leader. If he jumps out of the ring, all the horses jump out of the ring. Sometimes it can be quite a mess."

CIRCUS PARADE — An elephant and its elegantly clothed trainer promenade around the three rings of the Circus Vargas big top to open a recent show at the Montclair Plaza. The circus, owned and operated by Clifford E. Vargas since 1973, is the largest big-top circus operating in the United States. Other circuses, such as Barnum and Bailey and Wringling Brothers, now perform strictly in large entertainment centers.

RELAXING — Circus Vargas clown relaxes after a recent show at the Montclair Plaza. Although clowns go to school to help their acts, according to one clown, "Eight weeks at clown school doesn't teach you to be funny. It has to come natural."

The Big Top: here to stay

By Dan Carroll

From the historical raising of thje big top, to the clashing of shining cymbals and the flashing of brilliant lights, the roar of people, exploding with excitement.

The smell of popcorn filling the

The smell of popcorn filling the air with its aroma, cotton candy sticking to your fingers and lips.

Ther canvas top rising blue, high above you; mocking the sky.

Col. Wally Ross and his 100,000 pounds of elephant, the Flying Lantonys, Sir William Baker and his son Thomas Baker and their marvelously trained horses, the clowns, the contortionists, the sparkling acts; the pure entertainment of the greatest show on earth.

on earth.

This is Circus Vargas, and it has come to stay.

Circus Vargas is owned and operated by a genius of a man: Clifford E. Vargas. Vargas has operated the circus since he opened it Jan. 16, 1973 in Arlington, Texas, and it's been growing stronger ever since

The circus and the performers who make the circus are an awesome spectacle to behold. Many of them have left their homes in Germany, England, Argentina, Hungary, Italy, France, Cuba, Mexico, Sweden, Portugal, Spain, Morocco, Brazil, Austria and the United States of America. They have left their homes to fulfill their dreams, to travel the United States and Canada with the greatest circus

— Circus Vargas.

Unlike Barnum Bailey and Wringling Brothers circus, Circus Vargas still carries the old tradition of working under a large tent specially designed for this purpose. "The tent measures 300 feet by 150 feet and is the world's largest traveling big top." Circus extraordinary.

Peoples fascination with the circus will never be completely diluted by television or the large screen motion pictures. The death-defying acts of the circus leaves people hanging on the edges of their chairs. The excitement of the crowd draws you into the big top to view the three rings and its talented performers. The performers themselves are perfect in every action, and their skill in unpolluted by any other form of entertainment..

Thomas Baker, born in London, England, was raised all over the world by the famous entertainer and horse trainer, Sir William Baker, his father.

Thomas works with eight beautiful and spirited stallion Appalachians and his father has been working with eight fiery Andalusians imported from Portugal. Thomas and his father have been with Circus Vargus since 1975. "Circus Vargus is actually ther last true circus," Thomas said in his British accent. "The circus is an untouched form of entertainment, unlike other kinds of entertainment like television where trick photography is often used. The performers here at Circus Vargus are specialists in their fields, from all over the world. Do you know what it's like to practice gymnastics all day long? They have to be good. No not good, they have to be great and that's why they're at this circus."

Thomas Baker has descended from many performers. His father has been in the entertainment field for 65 years and he worked for Wringling Bros. at one time. His grandfather was an entertainer in Ireland. Thomas can trace his family back to the famous English juggling and acrobatic performers.

To train horses, to travel with the circus and to enjoy the family life is what Thomas Baker wants. When asked what he would be doing if he weren't a performer with the circus, he said "I'd be an actor. I love the theater."

The circus performers are highly trained and specialized people. Even the clowns have to go to a training school for their acts. Although this is true clown Johnny commented, "I went to the clown school in Florida for eight weeks, but that doesn't make vou funny. Being funny has to come natural. Going to a school doesn't teach you that."

The performers lead a regular day-to-day life much like our own with a few obvious exceptions. When they stop in a town, they shop at the malls, they go to see movies, they have barbecues and get together with each other. They even do their laundry at the local laundry mats laundry at the local laundry mats.

One things though: they wouldn't trade their exciting occupations for anything.

Circus Vargus should be an inspiration to all age groups. Teaching togetherness, hard work and a deep respect for peoples of all kinds. The circus people are kind and considerate. They are witty, easy to take to and most of all a lovable people.

If you missed Circus Vargus try to make arrangements to see it. Try and talk to one of the performers you'll be delighted.

Circus Vargus will be in West Covina April 15-18.

CHILDREN'S FACES — Some of the circuses' most enthusiastic audiences are made of children. They seem to be completely involved with what is going on in not only the center three rings, but the people around them as well

Want Ads Only Cost This Little?

What Am I Waiting For?

It's always a pleasant surprise when you figure out the cost of a Want Ad. Especially when you consider the vast number of newspaper readers you will be reaching. For just a few dollars your Want Ad message is there, 24 hours a day, for thousands to read and act upon. It's the time-honored way to dispose of usable but no-longer-needed articles cluttering up your storage areas.

You'll be surprised, too, at the many bargains available in Classified. It's where people look for such items as household furnishings, large and small appliances, new and used cars, the right home or apartment. Or perhaps you are interested in musical instruments, a sewing machine, radios, TVs or stereos, a bicycle, or sporting equipment.

For all your buying and selling in such kinds of merchandise, depend on Classified. You'll be pleasantly surprised how much you can get for so little cost.

Luncheon

Twenty-three senior citizens were treated to a special luncheon by eighth graders at Vernon Junior High School.

Students in Mary Boldi's home economic class prepared a Hawaiian-type luncheon and served members of the Colony Park Senior Citizen Club in the Hononaunau Inn, better known as room 8.

The menu included Hawaiian pupus, polynesian sweet-sour meat balls served on rice, tropical salad and banana bread. For dessert, students served homemade coconut ice cream.

According to Boldi, eighth graders prepared the food, planned the special menu, decorated the room around the menu theme and also did the serving as part of Vernon's career education class.

Don't be confused by the terms "dwarfed" trees and 'genetic dwarf' trees. The difference is that genetic dwarf trees are bred as naturally small growing trees, while dwarfed trees are normal fruit varieties grafted onto dwarfing rootstock. Usually, both types of trees are referred to as dwarf fruit trees.

Here are some pointers for planting deciduous bare root fruit trees:

1. Dig a hole at least big enough to accommodate the root system when spread out. In shallow or hardpacked soils, the hole should be half again as large and the back-fill soil should be amended with compost or packaged potting mix.

2. Prune off small roots that have become dried out and cut the larger roots back to about 10 inches.

3. Plant the tree at the same level it was grown at in the nursery — you will see the former soil line of Rosemary, for instance, is a popular shrub in its own right; thyme carpets the terrain with its fragrant foliage; sage offers pleasant gray leaves for the border; even parsley offers a luxurious green edging which looks good enough to eat - and it is.

Border varieties

The best flower beds and borders are those that feature several varieties of plants in a contrasting color and a range of heights. Flowering annuals make the most effective companion plants because they generally bloom over a long period and possess the most vibrant colors for display purposes.

Plants which tolerate a wide fange of climatic conditions

The bacteria survives the summer and winter in twigs and cankers. During the moist weather of early spring the bacteria becomes active and is carried to the blossoms and tender shoots by insects and by splashing rain. The blossoms are the most susceptible part of the plant to infection. They may be protected from infection by copper-containing sprays or dusts. A minute amount of copper in the blossom is effective. # 'Yesterday and Today'

By Mike Del Rey Pop Music Critic

A few weeks ago I was in the dressing room at the Starwood, a somewhat showcase arena for new talent arriving in Hollywood. However, the group I talked to Saturday has, according to their publicity release, arrived.

The group is "Yesterday and Today." They have just recently signed with London Records and their debut album "Yester and Today" is somewhat promising.

Yesterday and Today is composed of Dave Meniketti, lead guitar, lead vocals, background vocals: Joey Alves, rhythm guitar background vocals; Phil Kennemore, bass, lead and background vocals; and Leonard Haze, drums, percussion, lead and background vocales.

In an "off-the-wall" manner where questions bounced from one subject to another, I interviewed Yesterday and Today in their dressing room before they took the stage.

MD: How did Yesterday and Today get started?

Dave M: Well, we wanted people to hear us and the only real way was to produce and promote our own concerts. We tried Oakland but Oakland is too funky

MD: Funky? Dave: Yes too "Tower Of Power" and Grham Central

MD: How did you go

Dave: We had money to put up. Then we just printed about 500 pamphlets and had some of our friends hand them out to the high schools in the area. MD: Where was the first place Yesterday and Today played? Dave: Well I believe it was Ides lodge hall in Hayward. MD: What does the Ides stand for?

Dave: If it stood for anything it's beyond me. MD: About how many people attended these self-promoted concerts. Dave: Between 800 and MD: Were the concerts as successful as you thought they may have been? Dave: Well, we played because we liked playing. As far as being successful we did get our music heard. MD: How did the group come up with the name Yesterday and Today?

- Henry Bentley (loyal supporter and personal friend also in dressing room): When the band was doing a concert at Treasure Island Naval Base for the enlisted men one thing lead to another and they were thrown but due to security. Later on that day the band called the promotor and during their conversation the promotor asked one of the members what the name of the group was. Not having a name, they used the first thing that came to mind and that was the title

'Yesterday and Today." MD: Interesting. Well here is another toughie for the band. Do you feel that you're a commercial band? Leonard: Yes I think we're commercial hard

Joey: I think we're commercial also. That is if commercial means selling a lot of albums.

MD: You guys were just on tour for the first time outside the West Coast. I head that in San Antonio Texas you got your best welcome yet.

Leonard: Well I don't know if you can call it our album? best welcome but it was a welcome we won't forget. MD: What happened?

Leonard: San Antonio has radio station KISS. Not any relation to our "Kiss" Station here is home Anyway this station played our album "Y & T" before we got there. consequently people in the

with our music.

Leonard: Well that's true. We had already given three encores and if the house lights did not go on we would have given a fourth.

MD: Being a new band, did you have enough material to cover a fourth

Len: Oh yes. We have 30 written tunes. of an early Beatle album full of girls drove by and screemed "There goes Y &

Len: Yes. That did happen MD: Dave. How did the title cut from your first album come about?

Dave: Well, if you mean "Alcohol," it's a true story about a friend of mine who got arrested by being under the influence of alcohol, and the song is his story.

MD: A couple more questions before you go on. Joey what did the band expect from this debut Joey: Well it was like a test album. It would tell us where we went wrong or what we did right. We made one of the finest radio the album so as to not stations in the country: overpower our live performance. We want to be better on stage than on an album.

Yesterday and Today are described by Henry Bentley as "steal on stear' S.A. area were familiar An for being the first such band out of the Oakland MD: I heard the crowd area Y & T will be here
